REDMOND'S

Significant Utterances at the Unveiling of the '98 Memorial at New Ross.

Nothing But Freedom Will Change Irish Hatred of English Rule.

Points Out Consequences That Follow Dissension and Lack of Discipline.

NATIONAL SPIRIT CAN'T BE BROKEN

Speaking at the unveiling of the '98 memorial at New Ross John Redmond said Ireland was admittedly the disgrace and weakness of the empire, but if England were able to win Ireland's good will by a frank concession of freedom, that would be of more value to her than the good will of all the colonies. They hated English rule, and nothing but freedom would change that hatred. One hundred and nine years ago, on the sacred soil on which they stood, there was fought a great battle for human freedom. Disarmed, undisciplined, untrained, the people of that country faced overwhelming odds of the trained and drilled soldiers of England, and the victory of the people and their subsequent defeat within a few hours would contain for all time for the Irish people lessons full of significance and omen. The victory of the people proved that unity and discipline and enthusiasm could do anything against any odds. And the subsequent defeat that overcame the Irish forces in Ross showed the certain consequences which will follow the history, not only of Ireland but of the world, had followed from dissension, from apathy and from the laxity of the discipline. Ireland could gain nothing if she were split up into various sections; parties and cliques could never gain anything unless the Nationalists of the country were united. The moral was, Mr. Redmond said, that there was nothing they could not gain by unity and discipline, and that dissension and lack of discipline would end in the disaster which overcame their arms on the night of the battle of Ross.

"After all," he went on, "the great lesson to be learned from the battle of Ross, and from this demonstration, is not so much for us as our alien rulers. What is the meaning of this demonstration? Here we are, the descendants of the men who died upon this spot 109 years ago. Here we are, after all the years that have passed, after all the efforts that have been made to crush our country; here we are at the end of it, not only honoring the memory of the men of '98, but publicly pledging our devotion to the same ideals for which they died, namely the freedom of our country. The moral of the demonstration is perfectly plain for England. The moral is that nothing can destroy the national sentiment of the people of Ireland—that the national spirit of Ireland can not be broken. It has grown strong in persecution, it has never been weakened by concession, and today I say that this great fact is apparent, that over and above every effort for the amelioration of our lot, over and above every question of removing this grievance or that grievance, the great master passion of the Irish heart today is the sentiment of nationality and the demand for national freedom."

"We many differ among ourselves as to the precise ideal, and even our ideal may, with the lapse of years, to some extent, be modified;—we may differ as to methods. Young blood will always be in favor of the more extreme and more violent methods. We may differ from time to time as to our policy, but England should take note of the fact that so far as the object is concerned—that is so far as the freedom of Ireland is concerned—we are all united, and we would sooner face one hundred years more of persecution than abandon or abate one single jot of the national demand."

That was the moral which he commended to English statesmen from that meeting. One hundred and nine years of persecution and depopulation, of bloodshed, of the scaffold and the prison, of languishing poverty, ruined hopes, and yet at the end of it all there they were, young men and old, absolutely united in their devotion to the same ideal, to the same free nation. The most precious national possession was the sentiment of nationality, which was the very soul and spirit of the nation, and in endeavoring and attempting to suppress that spirit in Ireland, England was not only engaged in a hopeless, but a most foolish task. English statesmen admitted at that moment that Ireland was the disgrace and the weakness of England's empire. On all great occasions, whether in her sorrow or in her joy, Ireland stood apart from England and the empire. Today Ireland was a weak man of every nation in the world knew that that was so. But if England were able to win the good will of Ireland by a frank concession of freedom to the people it would be more valuable to her than the good will of all the colonies in the empire put together. Till she did that this light would go on. They told England frankly, as he had done in his place in the House of Commons, that the choice of the weapons would be a mere question of expediency with them, because they believed they were entitled in this movement to use every weapon which was open to a God-fearing race such as the Irish. They sent a message to England from that meeting to tell her that they, Westford, hated her rule today just as bitterly as their forefathers did when they shed their blood on that spot. "We tell her," he continued amid loud cheers, "we are as much rebels to her rule today as our forefathers were in '98. We tell her also that she can change that hatred by a grant of liberty and nothing else. So long as she holds from us the rights of freedom it will remain, as I have said, a question of expediency how and by what means we will strike at that power that holds our country in bondage."

BISHOP FEEHAN.

An Ideal Man For Head of the Fall River Diocese.

In the appointment of Rev. Daniel F. Feehan, P. R., of Pittsburgh, to the Bishopric of the Fall River diocese to succeed the late Bishop William Stang, the Catholics of Pittsburgh lose a devoted counselor, the city of Pittsburgh yields one of her foremost citizens, and the diocese of Fall River gains an ideal man for this high office in the Catholic church. Rev. Daniel F. Feehan, P. R., was born in Athol, Mass., in 1855. He was graduated from St. Mary's College, Montreal, in June, 1876, and was ordained to the priesthood December 20, 1879. Bishop John McCloskey, Father Feehan's first assignment was assistant to the pastor of St. Bernard's church, Pittsburgh. In October, 1886, Father Feehan was appointed pastor of the church in West Boylston. In the fall of 1888 he was recalled from West Boylston and appointed temporary pastor of St. Bernard's. At the end of the year he became permanent rector, the youngest permanent rector at that time in the diocese of Springfield. Bishop Beaven bestowed upon him an additional honor by appointing him to the Bishop's council. When Father Feehan first became connected with St. Bernard's church at Pittsburgh Father P. J. Garrigan, now Bishop of Sioux Falls, S. D., was rector of the parish. Father Feehan was made permanent rector when Father Garrigan was elevated to the bishopric. About a year ago Father Feehan celebrated his silver jubilee, after twenty-five years' active duty in the priesthood.

KNIGHTS' MEETING.

Uniform Rank Companies Visited by Clergy Thursday Night.

A most enjoyable social meeting of the two Louisville uniform companies of the Catholic Knights of America was held Thursday night at the headquarters of Company C at St. Martin's Hall. The purpose of the meeting was, of course, to interest young men in this splendid semi-military organization and further recruit the membership, and the results were very gratifying, quite a number having signified their intention of joining the ranks. Invitations had been sent to a number of clergymen and several were present as guests of the evening. Each had words of commendation for the Catholic Knights of America and encouraged the young men to affiliate with the Uniform Rank, which was a most excellent social as well as beneficial organization, and where they would receive a good military training. Gen. Michael Reichert, responded for the Knights, and told the many young men present of the benefits they would derive from membership. His hope was that the two local companies would grow until they were strong enough to form a battalion. Several others made short addresses that were well received, and so satisfied were the officers and members that they have determined to hold similar meetings hereafter at frequent intervals. During the evening all present were treated to a luncheon, followed by light refreshments and cigars. The Knights' first joint social session.

HELP BUILDING FUND.

At the annual children's festival and picnic given by St. John's church of Carrollton the handsome sum of $255 was netted. This goes toward the building fund of the handsome new $50,000 stone church now nearing completion, and which will stand as a monument to the zeal and energy of the former pastor, Rev. I. N. Ahmann.

POSTPONED.

The trip that was to have been made to Lexington tomorrow by Supreme Director James T. Shelly, President Ben Sand and members of the Young Men's Institute, for the purpose of paying a visit to Barry Council, has been abandoned for the present. The visit will be made later when the weather is more reasonable. Barry Council is one of the oldest and most important in the Kentucky jurisdiction.

TOMORROW

The Sixth National Convention of Catholic Societies Will Convene.

A Million and a Half Will Be Represented by Delegates.

Kentucky One of the Original States That Formed Present Body.

HAS ENJOYED WONDERFUL GROWTH

Tomorrow the sixth national convention of the American Federation of Catholic Societies in the formation of which Kentucky took a conspicuous part, will convene in Indianapolis and continue in session until Wednesday evening. The Federation has had a phenomenal growth and the delegates in attendance at this convention will represent a million and a half of Catholics. The Jefferson County Federation will be represented by President Newton G. Rogers and several others. This convention will undoubtedly be the largest and most representative Catholic gathering ever held in this country, as nearly all the national, State and local Catholic bodies will be represented by delegates. These will be from the Catholic Order of Foresters, with 130,000 members; the Ancient Order of Hibernians, with 200,000 members; the German Central Verein, with 100,000 members; the Knights of St. John, the Catholic Knights of America, the Young Men's Institute, the Catholic Knights and Ladies of America, the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association, the Women's Catholic Union, the Irish Catholic Benevolent Union, the Bohemian and Slavonic national bodies and many State federations, county federations, Catholic parishes and institutions. Ten thousand Catholics, as well as the Porto Rico and Hawaiian federations, will be represented.

The convention will open with Pontifical high mass at Sts. Peter and Paul Cathedral, where Archbishop Illenk, of New Orleans, will preach the sermon. Public mass meetings will be held at Tomlinson Hall on July 14 and 17, at which addresses on timely subjects will be delivered by Archbishop Messmer, of Milwaukee; Bishop McFaul, of Trenton; Right Rev. J. Schrems, of Grand Rapids; J. Roche, LL. D., Hon. William Hreen and others. Hon. Edward Feeney, of Brooklyn, will preside at the meeting.

The Federation was founded six years ago. It has the approval of Pope Pius X. and eighty Bishops. Its aim is to serve church and country, and to unite with good men of all creeds to combat divorce, immorality and dishonesty. President Roosevelt has also approved of the objects of the Federation.

Full reports of the important proceedings and the part taken by the Kentucky delegates will appear in these columns next week.

DID WISE ACT.

Mackin Council a Member of State Council Anti-Tuberculosis Society.

Though there was only a fair attendance at the meeting Tuesday night Mackin Council acted wisely in affiliating with the Kentucky Anti-Tuberculosis Society. This proposition had been under consideration by many of the members for some time past, and after the reading of a letter from Secretary Thomas A. Bohan there was a unanimous vote for the resolution to affiliate. Announcement was made that terms were being arranged for an excursion to Owensboro when the Grand Council meets and that the Joint Committee expects to see a big delegation from Mackin. The committee that arranged for the summer excursion reported that it was both a social and financial success, and presented the council with a nice sum as the proceeds. George Bartsch, who is suffering from an injury to his foot, was reported still confined to his home.

Every undertaking under the administration of President Sand has been very successful this year, and the members are inclined to take a rest during the hotted season, but it is their intention to make a determined effort to put the council out of debt, and burn the remaining mortgage before the beginning of the next year.

ST. ANTHONY'S PICNIC.

The annual picnic of the people of St. Anthony's congregation and their friends will take place Monday at Phoenix Hill Park. For some time past committees have been making every possible preparation and they look for the most successful outing ever given. Arrangements have been made with the Street Railway Company to carry the children from the church to the park without any change of cars and all will leave there at 9 o'clock. Dinner and supper will be served by the ladies of the congregation and a nice time is expected. The arrangements provide for a most interesting and varied form of amusement, including many attractions of a novel and unique character. The people of St. Anthony's parish are always ready to help others, and they therefore look for all their friends at Phoenix Hill on Monday.

MOVING UPWARD.

Division 2, A. O. H., Welcomes County President and Visitors.

While all the divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians in Louisville are moving upward, none are displaying more energy than Division 2, in which there is a spirited but friendly rivalry between the men of the East End and St. William's parish to see which can muster the largest membership. This division is also earnestly at work for the success of the field day and summer festival, and when the final returns are in it will be found that its members were not behind in their duty. William Meehan announced a number of entries for the tug of war and hundred yards race, and said they would be represented in all the events.

There was a good attendance Friday night when President Ford called the meeting to order. Several communications were read and acted upon and the Visiting Committee said it was enjoying a nice vacation not a member being on the sick list. Will Meehan reported the proceedings of the committee meetings held to arrange for the field day and the duties assigned Division 2. Under the good of the order President Ford introduced as a welcome visitor John A. Murphy, who delivered a short but telling address, in which he commended the officers and members for what they were doing. He also noted with pleasure the fact that every member of this division was wearing the beautiful emblem of the order, a distinction which few anywhere could boast. He urged his hearers to take all interest possible in the work of the A. O. H., that Louisville and Kentucky might be able to make the showing they desire at the next national and State conventions. For all our visitors there was a most cordial greeting.

RECENT DEATHS.

George and Mary Robinson, 2021 Lytle street, have the sympathy of many friends in the loss of their infant son, whose sudden death rendered their home desolate. The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon.

Martha E., the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Roth, 1541 Dumesnil street, died Sunday afternoon after a short illness. The body was taken to the home of the child's grandfather, Peter Roth, near New Albany, and the funeral was held Tuesday afternoon.

Margaret Mary Gannon, the thirteen-months-old daughter of Thomas Gannon, of the Illinois Central engineering office, died Sunday afternoon after a short illness. The body was taken to the home of the child's grandfather, Peter Roth, near New Albany, and the funeral was held Tuesday afternoon.

Last Sunday night death laid claim to the infant son of John McFarland, 1212 Twelfth street. The child was well until the hot spell, which superinduced cholera infantum. Funeral services were held Tuesday morning, the interment being in St. Louis cemetery.

Miss Mary Dolan, the sixteen-year-old daughter of James Dolan, died at an early hour Wednesday morning at the family residence, 123 Nineteenth street, after a lingering illness of tuberculosis. She was a bright and promising girl until stricken with the dread disease that caused her death. Besides her parents she leaves several brothers and sisters. Her funeral took place yesterday morning from St. Patrick's church.

Louis B. Carroll, the youngest son of Mrs. Margaret Carroll and a popular fireman on the Louisville & Nashville railroad, succumbed to typhoid fever last Saturday, after an illness of long duration. He was twenty-one years old and the news of his death caused feelings of profound grief among his wide circle of friends, numbers of whom called at the home to express sympathy for the bereaved mother. The funeral was held Monday morning from St. William's church, Rev. Denis Murphy officiating at the mass of requiem and delivering a feeling funeral discourse.

STATE JEWELS STOLEN.

A Dublin dispatch says a portion of the State regalia, valued at $250,000, has been stolen from Dublin Castle. The safe in which the regalia was kept was forced. The jewels stolen were those used in the ceremony of investiture in the Order of St. Patrick, the processional cross, studied which is worn in procession at the investiture of the knights. Lord Castletown, Knight of St. Patrick, was to have been chief of the State ceremony on the visit of King Edward to Dublin, but it is officially announced that the ceremony will be postponed. Sensational developments are expected.

HELP FOR BOYS.

Dubuque Will Soon Have Model Training School for the Homeless.

Archbishop Keane Donates Building and Land For Purpose.

Coupled With Industrial Education Will Be Religious Training.

OPEN TO YOUTH OF NORTHWEST

Catholics of Kentucky and adjoining States who have of late been giving serious thought to the question of the care and proper training of homeless boys will read with interest the following account of the movement undertaken by their co-religionists in Minnesota:

A step in modern progress toward placing dependent boys in a position to help themselves and the world—one of the largest steps that has ever been taken in Dubuque or by Dubuque people—will result in the establishment of an industrial school for boys at Table Mound, four miles from the city, in the near future. A farm of 600 acres has been given by Archbishop Keane as a location for the school and correspondence is now going on looking to the coming of a religious order to take charge of the institution and instruct boys in agriculture and trades as well as in religion. The founding of the institution is the outgrowth in part of a discussion relative to the care of homeless boys which occurred during the Charities and Correction conference held at Minneapolis recently.

The State institutions, it is held, are seriously handicapped in that no religious training is given. The education, physically and mentally, leaves the boys not unmoral, but perhaps unmoral. A general demand throughout the Northwest for an institution to meet these needs has become imperative the founding of the home.

The Dubuquers at the Minneapolis conference returned home with a thought in mind of the possibility in the founding of the school for betterment of the youths in this northwestern section of the country. To Father Heer, pastor of St. Mary's parish, occurred the idea that a tract of land, ideal for the purpose, large, beautiful and rich in natural possibilities, lay within a short distance of Dubuque and might be available for the school. The land is a tract of 600 acres, belonging to the Archbishop. It lies at Table Mound, four miles from Dubuque. Upon it was constructed many years ago by the late Bishop Loras, of Dubuque, a stone building, which was long used as a seminary. The structure is in good condition. The question of devoting this tract of land to the cause was laid before the Archbishop and the board of consultants of the diocese at the retreat of priests held at St. Joseph's College last week. The plan was thoroughly discussed and approved. Archbishop Keane generously agreed to give the use of the Table Mound property. Those in charge are now in correspondence with religious orders and members of some order will be secured to take charge of the institution.

The old seminary building will be fitted up with necessary equipment and used temporarily. The school will not be local, since conditions here are good, but will be a home for homeless boys of the entire Northwest. They will be given instruction in agriculture and various trades, and made capable and efficient in some certain line of work. Coupled with the industrial education will be religious training. The establishment of the school is in keeping with the present tendency toward education of the hand as well as the head, and the project is meeting with favorable comment.

"OUR MARY" IN ERIN.

What America's Catholic Actress Is Doing For Irish Girls.

The wild and rugged scenery of the west of Ireland has peculiar attractions for Mrs. Navarro, so well remembered in America as the brilliant actress, Mary Anderson—"Our Mary." Summer or winter, when she needs rest, she goes to a secluded spot in the mountainous regions. Her pleasure appears to consist in visiting the peasant homes among the lakes and mountain sides, talking with the simple people and dispensing charity where she thinks it is needed. For years she has been visiting the Connemara district, and with the exception of the women in one of the local convents no one has been able to establish her identity. She has been described as "the beautiful English lady who gives to the poor." Her friends in the convent have kept the secret faithfully. For months a building has been in process of construction on the ruins of an old cabin from which the occupants were evicted a year ago. It is almost beneath the shadow of the convent. Local gossip has been busy as to the object for which the new building is intended. It is now announced that it is to be a school where girls will be taught the rudiments of housework to fit them for domestic service when they are obliged to leave their own homes for foreign lands. While the building ostensibly is being put up by the nuns, Mary Anderson Navarro is the donor, and she has also endowed it so that it may be free from financial embarrassments.

WITHOUT WARNING.

James Winn Stricken at His Home Last Monday Morning.

James Winn, for many years a respected resident of Louisville, passed from this life to a better world at 8 o'clock Monday morning at the family residence, 732 Zane street. Sunday the deceased complained of feeling slightly ill but paid no further attention to it. Monday morning he was unexpectedly stricken and expired suddenly from heart failure. Mr. Winn was born in Ireland, but came to Louisville fifty years ago and has resided here ever since. For a long time he was a member of the local police force, from which he retired with an excellent record to become a special officer in the employ of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company. James Winn was an uncompromising Irishman, quick to resent an insult to his race or religion, and one of the old guard who did well their part in the upbuilding of that part of the city known as Limerick. A good citizen, ever loyal to the country of his adoption, he has passed to his eternal reward mourned by all who knew him. Surviving him are four sons, John, Edward, Thomas and James Winn, and one daughter, Mrs. Mary Duane. Col. Matt Wins was a nephew. The funeral took place Wednesday morning with a solemn high mass of requiem at St. Louis Bertrand's church, which was thronged with mourning friends of the bereaved family, and a long cortege followed the remains to their last resting place in St. Louis cemetery.

OWENSBORO.

Great Preparation For Entertainment of the Grand Council.

Sarto Council is busily preparing for the entertainment of the Grand Council next month. The Grand Council committee has the work well in hand and will have the programmes ready for distribution within a week. Arrangements for the banquet, which will be served at the Ruddy House, have been about completed, and it will be served in the manner that has won the Ruddy its excellent reputation. Hon. William M. Fogarty, of Indianapolis, Ind., Past Supreme President of the Young Men's Institute, will honor the Grand Council with his presence and will deliver an address at the banquet. Other prominent Y. M. I.'s will respond to toasts.

The members of Sarto will endeavor to make the stay of the visitors pleasant and will hold themselves at the services of the visitors at all times. It is probable that weekly meetings will be held after this week until after the meeting. Two members were received at the last meeting and quite a number of applications are to be voted upon at the next meeting, when several new applications will be received. There is great activity in Y. M. I. circles. The baseball team has won the last three games and now presents a very strong line up. The Grand Council committee will appreciate the favor if the visitors will inform them in advance of the time and road over which they expect to reach Owensboro.

THEIR FINAL VOWS.

A reception and religious profession was held Tuesday at the Sacred Heart Academy on the Cherokee drive, when eleven young ladies took their final vows and renounced the world to become members of the Ursuline Sisterhood. The ceremonies were conducted by Rev. Father Willett, of Preston Park Seminary, assisted by Rev. Father Gregory, of St. Meinrad's Abbey, and Rev. Father McShane, chaplain of the Sacred Heart Convent. Besides the Louisville relatives of the young ladies many visitors from Indiana and other points were present.

NEEDY CHARITY.

Much interest is being manifested in the success of the encore to be given at Pfister's Hall, Twenty-fifth and Market streets, next Wednesday evening. The entire proceeds will be donated to a worthy charitable purpose, and devotees of the fascinating game of euchre can accomplish a noble purpose by attending this event. The committee of ladies in charge are Mrs. Dan Caniffie, Mrs. W. T. Maddux, Mrs. W. Bowman and Miss Nannie Maddux.

THE FIELD DAY.

Everything Points to an Immense Gathering and a Great Success.

Entries For the Different Athletic Contests Coming in Rapidly.

Many Local Catholic Societies to Be Represented by Teams.

HANDSOME PRIZES WILL BE OFFERED

The subject most discussed these days in Irish-American and Catholic circles is the approaching field day and summer festival to be given by the Ancient Order of Hibernians at Ninaweb Park, at the end of the Fourth-street car line, on Monday, July 22. Twice the Ancient Order held a field day celebration at Fern Grove that pleased thousands, but a still greater number found it impossible to make that long trip, and it is for this reason that it was determined to hold this year's celebration in the city. The park selected is easy of access by the Fourth-street cars and possesses every advantage that could be desired. During the past few years the Meers, Summers have made many improvements, and today their park is a popular and pleasant resort for the best class of our citizens, who assemble there in large numbers almost every afternoon and night to escape the heat and dust of the city. Many will find the place completely transformed and beautified, and at night presenting a pretty sight with its myriads of electrical lights. The field for the athletic events is a large one and all will have ample room to witness the contests.

Next year the Hibernians of Louisville will entertain the Kentucky State convention and also send a large number of representatives to the national convention to be held in Indianapolis, and it is for the purpose of partially defraying the necessary expenses that will be incurred thereby that this celebration is given. In view of the foregoing and the sentiment expressed in all sections of the city, everything points to an immense gathering and the greatest success in the history of the local Hibernians.

The weekly meetings of the picnic committee that have been held at D. J. Coleman's have shown that there is much interest in the coming field day and picnic. Every division has been represented at these meetings, not by one member, but by three or four. The four division Secretaries report a good sale of tickets, and if the rank and file keep up the good work, thereby encouraging the officers and committee, it will be the most successful affair ever given by the Hibernians, both from a financial and beneficial standpoint.

The entries for the different games and contests are coming in rapidly and Chairman Thomas Dolan reports that he will have a programme that is bound to please and attract. In view of the fact that many requests for the hammer throw and running broad jump have been added to the list of athletic events, and anyone desiring to enter these can do so by notifying Mr. Dolan, at 2127 Portland avenue.

That there will be a grand gala is certain. The programme includes thirteen events, the most amusing of which will be the egg race for ladies, the sack race and the fat men's race. Besides there will be a number of special attractions and amusements in the park where young and old can spend a pleasant hour before or after the games, and there will also be a plentiful supply of refreshments suitable for the occasion.

As but another week remains every Hibernian in the city should do something to swell the crowd. Each member has received a book of tickets which should be disposed of, which would assure an attendance of over 5,000, but the officers and committees will be greatly disappointed if there is not double that number in attendance. This order has been quietly but effectively doing a great work in our midst for many years past, and it will be but a small appreciation to attend this celebration. The admission will be only ten cents, and no charge will be made to witness any of the contests.

Thus far thirteen field events have been on the program, and if they fill out others will be added. As now arranged they are as follows:

- Fifty-yards dash for boys under fourteen years of age.
- Fifty-yards dash for girls under fourteen years of age.
- Egg race for ladies.
- Potato race for boys not over eighteen years of age.
- Sack race.
- The following events will be confined to entries from Catholic societies:
- Fat men's race.
- Shot put.
- High jump.
- Hundred-yard dash.
- Relay race.
- Hammer throw.
- Hop, step and jump.
- Running broad jump.
- Tug of war.

LEND YOUR HELP.

The people of Louisville and Kentucky should rally to the support of the Kentucky Anti-Tuberculosis Society. It is stated that there are today 2,000 sufferers from this dread disease in Louisville alone. This is a startling condition of affairs, and every citizen should lend the society all the aid possible in stamping out this terrible life destroyer. The great need of the society just now is means with which to prosecute its philanthropic work, and it is to be earnestly hoped there will be a generous response to the appeal just issued by those who are blessed with the means to do so. A more worthy charity does not exist.

WILL NOT FUSE.

During the past week conferences between committees representing the Republican City and County Committee and the City Club, so prominent in the fusion movement of two years ago, have been held for the purpose of determining the course they would pursue in the coming election. After much deliberation the conclusion was reached by the Republicans that as an election for State officers was involved the present was no time for fusion, the leaders believing it to be their duty to nominate and place under the log cabin a straight party ticket. They may, however, place thereon the names of some Democrats who have left their party.

From present indications there will be but two tickets this fall for voters to select from. The time is fast approaching when the nominations will be made and until then it would be idle to make any prediction as to which will win. It is most certain, however, that Democrats and Republicans will put forward their strongest men and that the contest once started will be pushed with vigor.

WITHOUT INTEREST.

The visit of King Edward to Ireland this week is without incident other than the quiet reception arranged by Dublin Castle authorities and other Government officials. The people generally were unconcerned though at all times and in all places strictly orderly and respectful. Both King and Queen wore the national color of Ireland, but this occasioned little enthusiasm. King Edward congratulated the country upon the progress and prosperity indicated by the Dublin Exposition. He said his stay must be brief as he could have wished, but he intended to make the most of it, the prosperity of the country and the happiness and contentment of the people being objects very near to the hearts of both himself and the Queen.

FIGHTING STRENGTH.

When the announcement was made that the Navy Department had decided to send the Atlantic fleet to the Pacific a well known navy officer was asked what, in his opinion, would be the outcome of this overseas transfer of sixteen battleships. The officer must be quoted anonymously, as under the department's recent stringent order the wearers of navy blue must not talk for publication. "The chances are," he said, "that Japan will seize the Philippines and declare war before the fleet has been one week at sea. The serious blunder was made when the battleships that were stationed out there were withdrawn. Instead of withdrawing them, the force should have been gradually but unobtrusively augmented."

That may be an extreme view of the danger of an early clash. But it is betraying no confidence to say that the vast majority of those in the naval service have long been of the opinion that sooner or later the Japanese situation would reach a crisis. If that crisis is so soon to come it will be a bit reassuring to Americans to know they are ahead in fighting strength and that a comparison of the two fleets shows that this country commands a larger and better equipped navy than that of Japan. These are the sixteen battleships of the Atlantic fleet which it is said that the Government will send around the Horn into Pacific waters. The vessels are all of modern construction—some in fact are such recent additions to the fleet that their crews have not had an opportunity to fire the guns. But the fleet as a whole is the most formidable one that is now gathered under any one flag in any waters of the world.

Many German-Americans now residing in Germany are in a state of anxiety over the new citizenship law which went into effect July 1. The law of the law which is responsible for their worries is that reading as follows: "When any naturalized citizen shall have resided two years in the foreign state from which he came, it shall be presumed that he has ceased to be an American citizen, and his place of general abode shall be deemed his place of residence during the said two years." As passports henceforth will be issued only within the confines of the United States instead of at embassies and consulates as heretofore, these subjects of Uncle Sam who have settled down to spend the afternoon of their lives in the land of their birth are filled with concern lest the day of their American citizenship may be nearing an end.

The speed with which automobiles are being run upon Louisville's streets has aroused much adverse comment, and unless modified serious accident will yet result. Children crossing or playing in the streets are in great danger of being run over, as at the rate many are run it would be impossible to stop them within a reasonable distance. More attention should be given this matter and all violators arrested and heavily fined.

Judge Landis, who has been conducting an inquiry at Chicago into the standing and financial resources of the Standard Oil Company, had John D. Rockefeller before him last Saturday, but was unable to gain much information from the wily oil magnate. He told, however, who the active officers were, and their examination will doubtless lead to more satisfactory results.

Gov. Beekham this week appointed Randolph H. Blain to the vacant City Court Judgeship. The appointee is a well known lawyer of high standing and was for many years attorney for the Louisville School Board. Those who know him best say he possesses every qualification for the position and will make an exemplary Judge, one who will administer the law to all alike.

Mayor Eugene Schnitz, convicted in the San Francisco courts of extortion, was on Monday sentenced to five years' imprisonment by Judge Dunne. When sentence was pronounced unusual scenes were enacted in the court room, it being impossible for some time to prevent the outburst of applause that followed the last words of the Judge.

Up to Thursday night Gov. Beekham had not announced his appointees for the General Council, and until this is done neither Mayor Bingham nor Judge Lincoln will make any appointments. It is freely predicted that nearly all the present officials will retain their places.

Plenty of amusements are promised for all who attend and a number of valuable prizes will be awarded. Since taking charge of St. Michael's church Father O'Connor has worked very hard to improve the conditions in his little parish and deserves the hearty co-operation of all in his struggle. A cordial welcome and good time is in store for all who attend.

The Board of Metropolitan Police Commissioners of New Albany has promoted Patrolman James McLaughlin to the rank of Sergeant and he went on duty in that capacity last Wednesday night. It is gratifying to know that the promotion was not made through any political pull, but was for merit alone. For the next few weeks Sergeant McLaughlin will perform detective duty.

Danien Council, of Mauch Chunk, Pa., unanimously voted $500 to the new Church of the Immaculate Conception being erected by the Rev. T. J. Larkin.

Since the institution of the order at Sheridan, Wyo., every Western town of importance has its council, the gap that existed between Nebraska and Butte, Mont., now being filled.

Seventy-five candidates were initiated last week at Port Arthur, Can. Knights from Duluth and Superior chartered a steamer and representatives were present from Winnipeg, Ottawa and several other places.

Large crowds attended the celebration of the Colorado Springs council on July 4. The parade in the morning was an imposing one, and the address by Hon. M. C. Harrington, of Denver, on "Catholic Patriotism in America," won for him new laurels as an orator and scholar.

FONTAINE FERRY FEATURES.

Fontaine Ferry's many amusement features are all of the sort that afford the visitor opportunity to cool off. No more popular spot about the grounds is to be found than Hopkins' Pavilion, the cool and spacious summer theater where many of the best vaudeville acts in the country are being brought this summer. The programme arranged for next week is one that seems to promise much for local vaudevillians, as there are a number of unsurpassed turns on the bill. Park patrons will be pleased with the engagement for another week of Prof. Ellinger and Miss Beatrice Fisher, who will again be heard as soloists in the daily free band concerts. Another grand fireworks display will be given tonight as a special free attraction.

IMPROVING.

The many friends of Patrolman James Welsh, of the Fourth district, will be greatly pleased to learn that his condition is reported much improved. For several months he has been confined to his home at Twenty-third and Bank streets, suffering from a complication of diseases, and for a time considerable anxiety was felt for his recovery.

HINTS ON STYLE.

The printed silk nulls are beautiful, and the embroidered batistes and Swisses defy description.

The all white embroidered Swisses are always modish and serviceable, and there are many pretty new designs in these popular materials.

Felt hats in white and light colors reproduce all of the outling shapes popular in straw, but have hardly the vogue of the soft flexible straws.

Embroidered Swisses and batistes, showing delicate color in the designs, are many, but must be seen to be appreciated. One pretty Swiss has a ground of white striped with closely set black hair lines and is sprinkled with pale blue embroidered dots of waver aloft.

One of the most pronounced fads of the season in the province of the outing hat is the Panama hat rolling up from the face in front and down in the back and trimmed in a scarf wound around the crown and tied in a soft, careless bow at the back or at one side of the back.

Colored alips in many different shades are necessary for the summer outfit. Batiste alips are softer in effect than silk and, for many occasions, more satisfactory, for they can be laundered instead of being sent to the cleaners, which is the only possible way of freshening one of silk.

In trimming skirts of light fabrics the prevalent fashion of folds at the hem, for which is used any-

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing
the Past Week—General
News Notes.

Another auxiliary has just been instituted at Richmond, Va.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Meriden, Conn., has a membership of 525.

Each division should guarantee several entries to the athletic events. Boston Hibernians will take prominent part in the exercises during old home week.

Every member should attend the meetings and keep posted on the doings of our grand old order.

Nearly every division in New Hampshire has a fine strong box and an average membership of 175.

If every member disposes of his book of tickets it will mean a big success and boom for the order.

The Boston Ladies' Auxiliary team will confer the degrees on a large class of Brighton next Wednesday.

The Fourth of July celebration of the Denver Hibernians was attended by visitors from all over the State.

If we make the picnic a success it will mean renewed life for every division and also the ladies' auxiliary.

San Francisco Hibernians held a monster picnic and field day July 4. Prizes aggregating $2,000 were awarded.

The auxiliary mass for deceased members of the Hartford division was held Monday morning at St. Peter's church.

Division 3 will have much business to transact next Thursday night, when the members will receive a visit from the field day games committee.

The division of Dorchester, Mass., are engaged in a friendly rivalry in membership. Each is striving to add at least 100 members before January 1 next.

The Boston Hibernian says there is no doubt but that National President Cummings will visit the Falls Cities when he makes his trip to Ohio in September.

The division at Port Huron, Mich., has recently added to its membership a number of the prominent men of St. Stephen's parish and is enjoying a very prosperous growth.

Last Sunday there was a great mass meeting of Vermont Hibernians at Rutland. State officers and organizers from adjoining States were present and delivered stirring addresses.

Division 2 meets next Friday, and President Con Ford wants all the members present, as they will hear something to their interest as well as receive their assignments for the field day.

Elaborate preparations are being made for the annual field day of the Grand Rapids division on August 6. A feature will be the picnic dinner superintended by the Ladies' Auxiliary.

The Ladies' Auxiliary will meet next Wednesday night. All who can should attend, as they will have opportunity for taking part in a movement that should greatly increase their treasury.

Cincinnati will initiate a large class upon the occasion of the visit of the National President in September. Why not go earnestly to work and do the same here? With proper effort the four divisions could augment their membership by several hundred.

The Massachusetts State Board has presented Mother Superior Fabian, the new head of the Hamilton Heights Home, a check for $500. The organization wished to show its appreciation of the work being done at the home, and took this substantial way.

HURT BY FALL.

Martin Dugan, the venerable father of Frank and Martin J. Dugan, is reported resting easy at St. Joseph's Infirmary, although not entirely out of danger. The unfortunate man, who is seventy-five years old and a retired member of the police force, was last week found in his room unconscious with his hip dislocated. How he was injured is not known, but it is thought he had gotten out of bed to get a drink of water. His groans attracted the attention of the members of the household and medical aid was immediately summoned, when he was removed to the infirmary. Mr. Dugan resided with his son Frank at 1146 Sixth street.

WHITE CITY TURNS.

The free vaudeville bill at the White City next week will surpass even the high class list of attractions which are offered this week at this

The turns which will be offered next week are as follows: Marie Ralfson, the "woman with the mysterious power." The "O'Katie Family of Japs in aerial stunts," the marvellous Gilmour family in trapeze and gymnastic performance and the Tinkhams in a thrilling motor bicycle race in a slatted cage.

RESOLUTIONS OF CONDOLENCE.

At the last regular meeting of Branch 4, Catholic Knights and Ladies of America, held at Bertrand Hall, the following tribute and resolution, reported by William J. Connelly and Emily Conroy and Mollie T. Burke, were adopted in memory of the late Miss Mary O'Sullivan:

Whereas, In the death of Miss Mary O'Sullivan Branch 4, C. K. and L. of A., has lost one of its most conscientious members, whose pure Christian life and beautiful devotion to her family and friends was an inspiration to all who knew her; therefore be it

Resolved, That to the bereaved parents, brothers and sisters Branch 4, extends its most heartfelt sympathy; and that the foregoing memorial be adopted as the expression of Branch 4.

Resolved, That these resolutions be published in the Kentucky Irish American, a copy sent the bereaved family, and that same be entered in the minutes of this meeting.

ENTIRELY RECOVERED.

Mrs. William Chaw, ... William Chaw, Jr., and Dr. John T. Chaw have been entirely recovered from the effects of their ptomaine poisoning, which they sustained Monday at dinner by eating cabbage, which it is supposed was tainted with Paris green. All three were dangerously ill and their physicians say that it was a fortunate escape.

MOVED UP HIGHER.

Walter R. Hensley, for some years connected with the traffic department of the Louisville, Henderson and St. Louis railroad, has been appointed car accountant of that line, and his many railroad friends are pleased over his promotion. Always accommodating and at their service, Mr. Hensley has become very popular with shippers and patrons of the Henderson route, who predict that it will not be long until he is moved up still higher.

At the Armagh petty sessions four persons named Harland Black, Thomas Blackley, Ambrose Molloy and James O'Connell were each sentenced to a month's imprisonment for the larceny of two hens.

County Court Judge Francis Brady, in receiving white gloves at the last quarter sessions, said it was a fact worth noting that not a single prisoner had been tried before him at Dunganstown during the past year.

The unexpected death of James Quinn caused feelings of profound regret in Ballybay and vicinity. Deceased was a well known farmer and was universally respected. An immense cortege and forty vehicles followed the remains to the cemetery.

A great Nationalist demonstration will take place at Castleblaney on August 15. Messrs. John Redmond, John Dillon, Joseph Devlin, William Redmond, William McKillop and others prominent in the United Irish League have been invited and will deliver addresses.

An accident of a most serious character happened on the road at Drumfreghan. A man named Conlan was coming with a horse and cart from Ballybay when the animal took fright, and there being no fence cart, horse and occupants were tumbled into the adjoining meadow, a distance of over thirty feet. The three persons in the cart were thrown a considerable distance from the cart, and luckily escaped without many injuries, but the horse was killed instantly.

One of the oldest inhabitants of the village of Ballybay has passed away in the person of Mrs. Anne Greenan. The deceased, who was close on 100 years, lived in a snug little cottage. Her family are all in the United States and would send her a remittance constantly. She was scarce ever known to be unwell, and retained her faculties until the last. She remembered the great fairs of Ballytrain and saw it a hive of industry with the loom and the spinning wheel.

WILL CHANGE

Both Night of Meeting and Meeting Hall Next Month.

Beginning next month Division 4, A. O. H., will meet at Odd Fellows' Hall, Sixth and Walnut streets, on the second and fourth Mondays of each month, instead of the second and fourth Wednesdays as heretofore. It was intended to change this month, but as the fourth Monday will be the picnic date it was decided to hold a special meeting previous to the picnic to give the members an opportunity of making ticket returns, and accordingly a meeting will be held at Bertrand Hall, Sixth street, near St. Catherine, on Friday, July 19, and President McGinn urges all members to attend, as different sub-committees for the picnic will be appointed.

Chairman Tom Dolan, of the games committee, was on hand at Division 4's meeting Wednesday to solicit entries for the different events, and after stating that the downtown members were training faithfully, was taken off his feet when John Hennessy remarked that it was useless, as the men from Limerick intend to sweep the picnic clean. Returns for picnic tickets are coming in nicely and every member of the division is taking an active interest, which is the spirit that wins. Division 4 now has about twelve candidates awaiting initiation, two applications being received Wednesday—those of Sam Joyce and Thomas Cavanaugh.

DELEGATES

To Kentucky Grand Council
Chosen by Trinity Tuesday.

Trinity Council, Y. M. I., met Tuesday evening and elected delegates to the Kentucky Grand Council, which will be held at Owensboro next month. John J. Sullivan, Sr., Ed. Wulf, Dr. G. P. Beutel, Jr., Vic Eckert, Andy Kleffer and James Kelly were nominated. Messrs. Sullivan, Wulf and Kelly were chosen as the delegates, and Beutel, Eckert and Kleffer as alternates. The election of John Sullivan was a well deserved one, as he has been a pioneer worker in Y. M. I. ranks, while Ed. Wulf, Trinity's popular Treasurer, can always be depended upon to lead the ticket in an election.

As President Jos. Conkling was detained at another meeting until late, Thos. J. Garvey was chosen to act as President, and with the exception of getting a little twisted by calling the members "fellow braves" and "brother warriors" did very well in the chair. On account of inability to attend the meetings regularly, Ed. Bosler resigned as First Vice President, much to the regret of the members, who have great faith in Mr. Bosler as a hustler and faithful worker.

NOTED CLERICAL SCHOLARS THERE.

Milwaukee had as its guests this week the most distinguished body of Catholic clergymen who ever gathered in that city. Among the number were Archbishop Farley, Quigley, Glennon and Blenck, this being their first visit. Others were the recently created Bishop Walsh, of Boston; Very Rev. Thomas Shahan, Rev. Edward Pace and Father Yorke. They were there to attend the sessions of the Catholic Educational Association, of which Monsignor O'Connell, of the Catholic University, is the President. The meeting opened Tuesday in Marquette University and did not adjourn until yesterday.

SISTERS' RETREAT.

Great numbers of the Daughters of St. Dominic arrived in Kentucky from Eastern and Southern points and last Sunday entered upon a nine days' retreat at St. Anna Heights, Springfield. The retreat is being conducted by Rev. Father Clement M. Thunette, a noted missionary priest of the Dominican order. Kentucky Sisters will not begin their retreat until August 1.

OUT FOR BIG DAY.

The Advisory Board of the Catholic Knights and Ladies of America met Wednesday night at the hall of Branch 2, Chairman Thomas D. Claiborne presiding. Reports from all the Committees showed that everything is moving satisfactorily and progress

MRS. KOLLROSS RUN OVER.

Just before going to press news of a sad accident to Mrs. Constantine Kollross, wife of the well known music teacher and choir leader, reached this office. It was to the effect that she was run over by a street car at Twenty-third and Market and sustained injuries that may cost her death. She was dragged some distance, and when taken from beneath the car it was found that her body was awfully bruised and that one of her feet had been cut off.

PROCEEDS FOR HOSPITAL.

Lieut. Tom Fitzgibbons, Lieut. Edward Heffernan and Detective Edward Moran, three of the best known and most trusted members of the Louisville police department, are enjoying their annual ten days' vacation.

LADIES IN CONTEST.

First Encampment of Catholic Knights Uniform Rank.

Wednesday night Company C of the Catholic Knights of America held an interesting business meeting and heard reports for the encampment to be held at Fern Grove on August 29. On that day every company of the Uniform Rank throughout the country is expected to hold its celebration, and nowhere will the day be more appropriately observed than in Louisville. The local Knights have chartered boats and arranged for a monster basket picnic for their friends at Fern Grove, when in addition to the drills an elaborate programme of amusements will be presented. Considerable enthusiasm was aroused by the announcement that four well known young ladies had entered the contest for prizes offered those selling the most tickets, which will be inaugurated Monday. This will be the first encampment or outing of the Uniform Rank here, and the officers and members will leave nothing undone that would add to its popularity and success.

FRANCE LOSING

Property Bequeathed to the Church For Special Purposes.

A number of suits have been brought in France by the heirs of Catholics to recover property bequeathed to the church, for the specific purpose of saying masses for the repose of the souls of dead person. The decision of the court thus far have invariably been in favor of the claimants on the ground that the law of separation rendered the execution of the legacies impossible. At Quimper a donation of several thousand francs for masses for the repose of the soul of the testator was recovered by his heirs, and at St. Amant property bequeathed in 1850 for a similar purpose was ordered restored. At Clvray the municipality was required to restore certain property bequeathed to it for the girl's seminary.

RAILWAY CLERKS' DAY.

Local Division 23, of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, will give an outing at White City on Friday, July 26, afternoon and evening. This organization, although practically a new one in organized ranks, is making rapid gains in membership, which the other labor bodies are proud to see, and a full turn out of the men who toil is expected to help the pen pushers on that day.

LORETTINES IN CONVENTION.

Next Tuesday a convention of the Superiors and teachers of the Loretto Sisterhood, whose headquarters are in Marion county, will be held at Kansas City. The Lorettes are recognized as one of the greatest Catholic teaching orders in this country.

WILL MAKE A HIT.
